

Forum Guidelines

1. This discussion forum is only for educational purposes. Please respect that.
2. Please read FAQs before starting discussion on any topic.
3. Before asking a question, please check the discussion forum first. Some other participant might have already answered that question.
4. Any discussion related to a particular module should be done under the discussion category with that module name. Discussion on general issues can be done under 'General' category.

Participants can start a discussion on discussion page given at the end of each module. Alternately, discussion can also be accessed through the Discussion tab.

5. While responding to the discussion question(s) posted, please answer the question(s) completely.
6. We encourage peer to peer discussions on this forum. The Admin/Staff/Mentor will only intervene the discussion(s) when required.
7. Please remember that people are sensitive towards criticism or perceived criticism. Keep responses positive and constructive. Any posts that include sexually explicit comments, hate-speech and prejudiced remarks will be removed and strict action may be taken against that participant.
